Wagner's Cottages is evocative of the early days of Tasmania when pioneering families worked modest plots of land and raised large families in humble dwellings. Wagner's Estate has preserved this history with its two cottages dating from the 1850s and the faithful reproduction of a further three, all in locally-sourced, golden-hued stone.

Whichever cottage you choose, the hallmark of a stay here is a sense of history without a hint of dusty lace. Leather lounges, spa baths and roaring fires (with an endless supply of wood) ensure a very comfortable stay. Together with a continental breakfast hamper, including home-baked bread, the experience will captivate discerning guests seeking a Tasmanian heritage experience with style.

Each cottage has its own private garden within the estate, which is surrounded by a dry-stone wall (constructed by the original Wagner family in the 1860s). The pristine beaches of Oyster Bay are an easy walk away, there are numerous dining options at Swansea, regional produce farm gates to discover and, of course, the Freycinet National Park on your doorstep.

Location: 135 km or 1½ hours northeast of Hobart and southeast of Launceston. Map 12. HEMA RA 59 C13.

Facilities: Five studio, one- and two-bedroom cottages: each with kitchen/kitchenette, dining/living (open fire, plasma TV, CD, DVD), spa bathroom, laundry, private garden. Continental breakfast provisions provided.
